Be prepared to identify yourself as a SMA member and provide your company name when you call. Use of this service is reserved exclusively for our members.

Our members may call the helpline for expert answers regarding:

- Cal/OSHA–OSHA posting requirements
 - OSHA logs 300, 300A and 301
 - Record keeping requirements
- Senate Bill 198: Injury and illness prevention program requirements
- Multi-employer/dual employer work site requirements
- What to do when an employee is seriously injured on the job
- General regulatory compliance: California Title 8
- Hazardous communication compliance
- Blood-borne pathogen regulations
- Forklift certification requirements

The OSHA Safety Helpline will provide immediate answers to your basic questions on a complimentary basis. More complex issues may require in-depth study, requiring that a fee be charged. Give our OSHA Safety Helpline a try, and let us help you keep safety first.
